DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's request for reconsideration of the finality of the rejection of the last Office action is persuasive and, therefore, the finality of that action is withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1,4-16, 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Balint in view of Paratte.

In regard to claims 1, 11, and 16, Balint discloses substantially the invention as claimed. Balint does not disclose a deformation being a stake formed in a second end of a shank and extending along a chord of the second end. Paratte teaches in figure 3, a deformation 13 being a stake formed in a second end of a shank and extending along a chord of the second end. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the terminal of Balint by forming a deformation being a stake formed in a second end of a shank and extending along a chord of the second end as taught by Paratte to prevent the screw from backing out of the hole.

In regard to claim 4, Balint discloses in figure 2, a shank which is offset from a longitudinal axis.

In regard to claim 5, Balint discloses in figure 2, a portion of an external thread forming the deformation which has a reduced width between adjacent crests.

In regard to claims 6, and 12, Balint discloses in figure 5, a backing plate 4 which has a central aperture 7.

In regard to claims 7, and 13, Balint discloses in figure 2, a backing plate which comprises a depending tab 13, and a terminal base which comprises an opening 2.

In regard to claims 8, and 14, Balint discloses in figure 2, a backing plate which comprises depending first and second tabs on opposite side edges, and the terminal base which comprises first and second openings.

In regard to claims 9, and 15, Balint discloses in figure 2, a terminal base which comprises a contact 41 extending therefrom.

In regard to claim 10, Balint discloses in figure 4, an external thread which has an axial length sustaining greater than an axial length of an internal thread.

In regard to claim 18, Balint discloses in figure 4, a shank which is placed within a central aperture of a backing plate before being threaded into the bore.
